

CASE STUDY: RAPID ROACH RESPONSE

THE PROBLEM

Ni Pest Control & Pest Proofing Ltd contacted us after being called to a vacant property where the landlord had recently regained possession. The landlord intended to sell the property but discovered a rapid and severe cockroach infestation once he re-entered the premises. Due to the lack of occupancy and maintenance, the infestation had gone unchecked for some time and had escalated quickly.

THE SOLUTION

After assessing the situation on-site, the technician conducted a thorough survey and confirmed high levels of cockroach activity. A fast and effective treatment plan was needed, so the technician sourced key control products from PestFix to begin immediate intervention.

Thanks to our extensive stock and reliable delivery network, we were able to supply the required treatment products without delay. The technician was able to begin treatment straight away, applying a targeted approach to reduce the infestation.

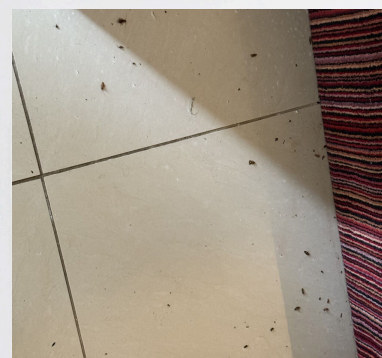

A follow-up visit was then conducted, during which Hoy Hoy sticky monitoring boards were placed throughout the affected areas to track ongoing activity. The boards helped to provide valuable data, allowing the technician to adjust the treatment plan accordingly. Activity levels have since significantly reduced.

THE OUTCOME

While treatment is still ongoing, there has already been a substantial decline in cockroach numbers thanks to prompt action and the use of high-quality products. Continued monitoring and further treatments will help bring the infestation fully under control. PestFix continues to support the technician with product supply and advice as needed.
